95 Points - Dave Brookes - Halliday Wine Companion 2024, "I remember dealing with a lot of this wine during my time in wine retail and while working for Langtons. It's one of those Aussie classics, still coming across as traditional in style but in no way feeling anachronistic, only familiar and comforting. Cedar and wood spice—infused dark berry and cherry fruits, still fruit pure and sweet after a decade, sheathed in baking spice, fruitcake, dark chocolate, violets and earth with a curious note of spring fields further back. Powdery in tannin and long of finish it's a lovely, embracing wine."

95 Points - Jane Faulkner - Halliday Wine Companion 2018, "Excellent crimson-black hue for a 5yo wine; it's rich, smoky and toasty with freshly ground coffee and dark chocolate, plenty of dark plums, too, with a waft of green walnut. Full-bodied, and while the flavours are concentrated, everything from the oak to the giving tannins are in their place. Well played."
